

PROJECT UNIFY

Having fun outdoors

HILLSDALE – On a bright sunny May morning and afternoon Thursday, students at Greenfield School enjoyed the outdoors during Project Unify.

There were several activities for the students to participate in, along with a bike and trike path for students to ride along.

The event brought the students together with other students from Hillsdale County. Thursday morning students Williams Elementary School fourth- and fifth-graders were on hand to share in the experience with the students. In the afternoon, several students from Will Carleton Academy took time out of their day.

The preschool classes from Renyolds Elementary and North Adams also took part in the event.

A preschool student is swallowed up by a monster with two giant hands during Thursday's event. ANDY BARRAND PHOTOS

Courtney Wert, a student at Greenfield School, draws with sidewalk chalk Friday afternoon.

Kaycee Jones, a Head Start student at Greenfield School, tosses a ball into a cardboard cutout of a fish with other members of her class.