

Ellasandra Downard, 1, of Britton plays with bubbles Wednesday morning during playgroup for Lenawee's CHILD at the Porter Center.

Lenawee Faces

Photos by The Daily Telegram

Acting as the lighting director, Eyrn Barnes from Tecumseh works with Connor Whitehead from Adrian during the filming of a mock "Shark Tank" program at the Lenawee Intermediate School District Tech Center. The activity was based on the ABC television show "Shark Tank," where people pitch their business ideas to a group of business executives. Students in the entrepreneurial, marketing and finance class and the culinary arts class teamed with the video and audio production class Tuesday to do the production. Students had to sell their programs to a "Shark Tank" group made up of other students.

Fourth-grade student Dylan Masters carries boxes of canned food Tuesday. Alexander Elementary School students loaded 2,110 food items they collected for St Mary's Food Pantry. In addition to surpassing their goal of 2,000 food items, the students brought in $293 in cash and gift cards.

Ken Keen plays chess Feb. 20 at Damascus Road Ministries.

Scott Marvin is all smiles Feb. 21 during the Community Action Agency Walk for Warmth in downtown Adrian. More than 100 people took part in this year's walk, which began at Adrian's First Presbyterian Church. The event was aimed at raising awareness of and money for local families who are struggling to keep heat and other utilities on this winter.

Second-grader Kayla Holt picks up a box of food items Tuesday. Alexander Elementary School students loaded 2,110 food items they collected for St Mary's Food Pantry.